AGUINALDO'S CONGRESS.

The Beginnings of the Philippine Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Manila correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"I am the only foreign journalist present at the insurgent congress at Malolos, which has been selected as the temporary capital of the revolutionary government. Early this forenoon Aguinaldo, accompanied by a large staff of generals and ministers, moved in state from the convent now occupying as his military headquarters, passing between lines of infantry and through streets decorated with palms and banners and packed with thousands of peasants in holiday dress, to the church half a mile distant.

"Here he was received by the assembly delegates and conducted to a platform in the chancel, from which he delivered a brief message in the Tagalog language, afterward repeating it in Spanish. The substance of the message was mostly congratulatory on the happy termination of the revolution and the complete conquest of the territory. He made a flowery appeal to the delegates, asking them by the memory of the illustrious patriots of Philippine history to follow the example of England, America and France in preparing a constitution and promulgating laws to secure the complete and permanent liberty of the people of the Philippines. The message excited but little enthusiasm, because it was absolutely non-committal.

"The assembly then proceeded immediately to organize, preparatory to a discussion on the proposed constitution and code of laws and the election of a president. The absence of several of the most prominent and influential natives was particularly noticeable, as indicating an intention to hold aloof until the policy of the congress is fully declared.

"A strong party, intoxicated by the present measure of success, favors opposition to any foreign protectorate, being confident that the people can govern themselves. Wiser counselors strenuously oppose such a suicidal policy. Apparently unanimity now exists only in the determination to free the islands forever from Spanish rule. This is the universal feeling, and it will probably prove the controlling power in determining the final action of the congress."

INSURGENT MOVEMENTS.

Concentrating at Santana in Strong Force.

MANILA, Sept. 16.—The insurgents have changed their plans, and instead of evacuating all the suburbs of the city, as General Otis ordered, they moved from Ermita to Malate to Santana, where they appear to be concentrating in strong force.

It is reported, although it has not been confirmed, that Aguinaldo has ordered that this place be held at any cost. It is more likely a move on the part of Pio Pilar to embarrass the dictator.

The former rebel chief, Isabelo Artacho, who was condemned to death by Aguinaldo for treachery in May last and was reprieved and escaped, is leading 15,000 men against Aguinaldo. Artacho is backed by priests.

A Jesuit priest has been shot for persuading rebels to desert Aguinaldo's cause.

At a meeting of rebel leaders in Malolos the majority will vote for autonomy under American protection.

Coasting steamers are trading with the provinces under Spanish rule. Aguinaldo demands 50 per cent of freight receipts of steamers trading with the rebel provinces.

All Spaniards in the northern provinces are now prisoners. The rebels seized stocks and cash of the tobacco estates belonging to the Compania Tabacalera, in Cagayan province, and also those of Coprax, in Camarines province. The losses are enormous.

The rebel steamer Bulusan has been sunk by a Spanish kumboat at Marbute. Aguinaldo denies the shipment of arms from Japan. The arms were probably shipped by priests for Artacho.

SITUATION IN CUBA.

Antianexationists Putting Up a Good Fight.

GOMEZ FOR ABSOLUTE INDEPENDENCE

He Declares. It Is Alleged, That Spaniards Must Unite With Cubans in Resisting American Aggression—News of Communion.

HAVANA, Sept. 16.—The predominant feature of the situation is the feverish and widespread agitation of the Cubans in favor of the absolute independence of the island at all costs. Manifestoes are being circulated inviting the co-operation of Spanish residents and merchants to this end and pointing out that either annexation or an American protectorate would mean death to all trade with Spain in a couple of years.

General Maximo Gomez, who only a fortnight ago gave expression to extremely moderate views, counselling harmony and patience, now expresses himself as strongly in favor of "absolute independence or nothing." He says the Spanish element cannot afford to delay uniting with the Cubans as a "necessary basis for the establishment of conditions that will forbid and prevent the United States grabbing and taking easy advantage of the treasure both Spaniards and Cubans have fought for at an expense of rivers of blood on each side."

General Gomez says, if report speaks truly, that "those who fear independence belong to the same family of cowardly curs who fled from Havana at the first rumor of bombardment." These, he declares, are, however, a minority, and, to quote him further, "almost the entire Spanish population remains, protecting their homes and defying the dangers of war and will now remain to unite their forces with those of the Cuban party, working together with the Cubans for the development of the island and the return of prosperity."

A leading evening paper Wednesday published a local letter purporting to voice the opinion of Catalonia in favor of independence and promising aid and co-operation.

How far the influence of the party agitating for Cuban independence may extend it is at present difficult to estimate, but the fact is its agents are working like beavers. Some former sympathizers with the annexation movement are to be found today in the ranks of the independence movement.

This violent impetus given to the agitation for independence is the result, apparently, of the arrival of the Resolute or, rather, of the arrival of Mr. Porter and the examination he is making into tariffs, municipal taxation and other matters of internal government, which the Cubans had expected to handle and administer themselves. Mr. Porter's operations are viewed with suspicion by an important section of the Cubans, who keep on calling meetings and protesting against a "usurpation of privileges purchased at such a sacrifice." They insist upon absolute freedom, unrestrained liberty or a fight to the death.

One reason why many Spaniards who at first favored annexation have now changed their opinion is that they fear competition of American rivals as storekeepers, hotel managers and restaurateurs. They are afraid that the Americans, instead of coming to buy at their establishments and stocks at fabulous prices based upon the old Spanish duties, will open shops next door, import goods at low duties under the new regime, ruin their business and reduce them to poverty.

Exactly the same spirit prevails among the planters, especially the smaller ones, who had hoped to sell at good prices the old French and Belgian machinery for which they had dear and coveted under excessive duties. They realize that the American syndicates will bring American machinery much cheaper and paying practically no duties, establish a large central market, close theirs and push them to the wall. The awakening of all such dreamers to the reality of the future nature of American competition causes them now to shout loudly for Cuban independence, under which they would expect to enjoy the blessings of lenient laws without fear of active competition.

All this amounts practically to a silent admission of Cuba's inability to offer, if left to herself, the guarantees of stability that would induce foreign capital to come here to develop the island's natural resources. The deduction seems to be that with Cuba independent, no foreign capital and no competition with Cuba under American rule, a competition against which the Cubans would not have the energy or the power to succeed.

These questions are uppermost in every mind, making for general uneasiness and discontent, preventing the resumption of the normal tone of the market and blocking trade and traffic. The American evacuation commissioners passed the day quietly. Rear Admiral Sampson came ashore to do some shopping and returned to the Resolute with his staff in the course of the afternoon.

General Butler, who is now living here, went on board the transport yesterday morning to confer with General Wade and Dr. Laine, the commission's physician, regarding the sanitary arrangements at the Trocha hotel, which will be ready in a few days for the reception of the commissioners and the entire staff.

General Butler, his staff and Robert Porter are the only American representatives living on shore, but next week night shore leave will be granted to the staffs of Admiral Sampson and General Wade, whose members, under the navy regulations, are now obliged to be on board the Resolute at 5 o'clock each morning. The officers intend to ask their superiors to modify the regulations regarding dress, which compels them to wear their uniforms on shore, a very trying costume during the present intensely hot spell.

A New Jersey Strike.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 16.—Four hundred employees of the Consolidated Fruit Jar company at New Brunswick, N. J., went on strike yesterday afternoon. Recently the men accepted a reduction of 15 per cent in their wages, but yesterday the piece workers refused to accept time cards, by which a record of their work was to be kept by them, and were discharged. The entire force of employees then quit the works.

At most of the swell French watering places motor cars are said to exceed cycles.

In the recent Paris-Amsterdam motorcycle road race one contestant encountered an obstruction and was dumped into a pond, but his machine kept right on.

Many people wonder at the enormous weight of the motor vehicles, but when they are reminded that it means both horse and wagon they wonder that they wondered.

In the future the young idea will have to "Mote while they're young," as the goat cart of our youth will be displaced by the little motor tricycle with its trailer cart, that is already in general use by the young of Paris.

PEACE COMMISSION.

Full Instructions Prepared by the Cabinet.

NATURE OF INSTRUCTIONS A SECRET

Commissioners Will Have Considerable Leeway—All Arrangements Made For the Commission's Departure—Dinner at White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The cabinet met in special session at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and adjourned at 4. All of the members were present except Secretary Alger, who is not in the city. All united in the statement made after the meeting that they had agreed to say nothing more of the result of the deliberations than that the peace commissioners had been fully instructed. Of the nature of these instructions they conveyed not a word. Each one pointed out that to do so would be extremely impolitic and would amount to arming the Spanish commissioners in advance against themselves. The peace commissioners who were approached on the subject made a similar response, thus closing all official avenues of information.

It was said that the commissioners were "fully instructed," and upon seeking a further explanation of this phrase it appeared that the cabinet had patiently gone over in the discussion with the commissioners every subject that in their opinion could be brought into the proceedings before the joint commission. On each of these the American commissioners were made acquainted with the views and wishes of the administration. It is not to be understood from this that the commissioners go under ironclad and unchangeable instructions at all points, for there is a certain amount of flexibility in the instructions, else, as one of the cabinet members put it, the president might just as well have reduced his wishes to paper in the form of an ultimatum and have sent that to Paris by a messenger. The peace commissioners are in no sense mere mouthpieces, but, having chosen with the greatest care and consideration five men in whom he puts the most implicit confidence, the president feels that they are to be trusted with the interests of the United States. It is not expected that they will have a free rein in the larger question of policy, but with ample opportunities for consultations by cable and otherwise there is no reason why the commissioners should not be able to carry out the desires of the administration and at the same time have the opportunity to somewhat shape those desires by conveying information that may be obtained. For instance, it is expected that at Paris the commissioners will meet General Merritt, fresh from Manila, and in addition they will have the benefit of a special report from Admiral Dewey. These will be of the greatest value, for the commissioners are not acquainted with the Philippine question in detail, and even the information that is to be acquired from the Spanish peace commissioners is not to be despised when it takes such an official form that it can be relied upon as to accuracy.

All the arrangements have been completed for the departure of the commission and its staff. Most of the party will leave Washington at 4 o'clock this afternoon for New York, but, it is said, may be detained by some of the commissioners until the midnight train. The Campana sails at 2 p. m. tomorrow, and explicit instructions have been given all the members of the party as to being on hand at that time. Special baggage tags have been printed for the belongings of the members, and a small paper pasted showing red and blue bars crossed on a white background gives a handy way of making a "red, white and blue" identification of the personal and general luggage of the party. A number of stout cedar chests have been made to carry the books, pamphlets, typewritten papers, etc., forming a part of the American case. The chests are like a shallow wooden trunk, so that they may be stacked one on the other and thus be available on the passage over, first of all of going with the baggage in the hold of the steamer. This will permit considerable work on the trip, and it is expected that the commissioners will hold meetings on shipboard. The party will go direct from Liverpool to London, and there stop for a day's rest, then proceeding to Paris by way of Dover and Calais.

Senator Frye called at the war department during the afternoon and had a talk with Acting Secretary Melk. John. While they were together Representative William Allen Smith of Michigan, who is a member of the joint committee on foreign affairs, joined them. In the course of a good natured exchange, Mr. Smith urged Senator Frye to hold on to the Philippines as an entirety, as well as all other territory of which we were possessed as a result of the war. Mr. Frye diplomatically avoided committing himself, beyond remarking that this idea seemed to be growing. As Mr. Frye came from the department he was asked if he favored a retention of the Philippines to which he replied, "I never have given my views on that to any human being."

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

No Deviation From or Modification of American Demands.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The state department last night gave out the following statement concerning the discussion between the members of the cabinet and the peace commission yesterday.

"The members of the peace commission, with the exception of Senator Gray, whose absence was due to his inability to withdraw as counsel in a case in which he was engaged some time before his appointment as one of the peace commissioners, spent the greater part of yesterday and today in a free discussion of the duties with the discharge of which they have been entrusted by the president. Senator Gray is expected during the evening and before sailing will have a full conference with the president and his associates.

"While for obvious reasons it was determined that the nature of the instructions as to the negotiations about to be entered upon should for the present be kept secret and made known only after definite results have been reached, it is possible to state authoritatively that the commission goes to Paris fully prepared to follow a course of action mapped out for it as the re-suit of the consultations of the last two days.

"At the very outset it will be made clear to the Spanish commissioners that, as in the case of the preliminary protocol, there can be no deviation from or modification of the demands made by the United States. This decision arrived at by the president after a full consultation with the members of the commission subsequently received the cordial and unanimous approval of the cabinet at a meeting held at 3 o'clock this afternoon. As previously announced, the commission sails from New York on the Campana at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon."

Commissioners Dine With President.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President McKinley gave a dinner at the White House yesterday to the members of the Spanish-American peace commission who are now in the city. Invited to meet them were the members of the cabinet now here and a few other officials, most of whom have at various times been called in consultation about questions relating to the war. The dinner was given in the private dining room and was confined entirely to gentlemen. It began at 8 o'clock, and the guests remained for some time. A section of the Marine band was stationed in the state dining room and rendered patriotic airs during the evening, while the red, blue and green parlors and the main corridor of the mansion were thrown open for the convenience of the guests. While the dinner was intended as a social courtesy to the departing commissioners, it gave an opportunity for a more or less informal discussion of the work to be undertaken by them.

SPANISH COMMISSIONERS.

Rios, Villaurrutia and Cerdeño Said to Have Been Chosen.

MADRID, Sept. 16.—Sagasta, having entirely routed his enemies and, as Romero Robledo says, dispersed them, at once proceeded to nominate his Paris commission, whose instructions will be clear and decisive. Above all, the mission should be instructed that their mission should be completed with the utmost possible promptitude.

The certain names of the commission up to date are Montero Rios, the Spanish representative in Brussels; Senor Villaurrutia, who was chosen because he is considered one of the rising diplomats of Spain; is a great friend of Sagasta and speaks English; General Cerdeño, a general of engineers, the most illustrious of the Spanish military men of this country. He speaks English and possesses the cold nature of the savant; Senor Canales, a jurist, well versed in matters of international law, a great friend of Montero Rios, and, most probably, Senor Abadiaz, an old friend of Castelar, and a young and intelligent administrator, who speaks English.

There is still a dark horse of great importance. The betting is that Moret is the man. Sagasta at the council of ministers at the palace today drew attention to the desire of the Duke of Vergara as direct descendant that the remains of Christopher Columbus be removed from Havana to Spain.

Evans on Shore Duty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Captain Robert D. Evans called at the navy department yesterday and had a long talk with Secretary Long, the immediate result of which was the issue of an order relieving him of the command of the battleship Iowa which is now being repaired at the New York navy yard. This was done at Captain Evans' personal request. He has served more than the period of time required by regulations and practice for a captain to command, and his next sea service may be in flag rank.

Secretary Long yesterday decided to assign Captain Evans to duty as a member of the naval inspection board, and he will assume his new duties after a brief vacation.

A NEW CLEW FOUND.

Victim of Bridgeport Murder Again Identified.

SAID TO BE MARION PERKINS.

Mrs. Guilford's Son in Bridgeport. Acknowledges the Laundry Mark, "G 51"—An Important Arrest Said to Be Imminent.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 16.—Another arrest is said to be imminent in connection with the Yellow Mill pond murder mystery.

It was said late yesterday afternoon that Detective Arnold is at West Haven and that he had discovered a man who drove a carriage over the Seaview avenue bridge on Sunday night.

No arrest has been made as yet, but it is understood that the police can find this man whenever it is necessary.

It is believed that the woman found dismembered here has been identified and that she was Marion Grace Perkins of Middleboro, Mass.

John Cullinan, in whose undertaking establishment the dismembered body is lying, is positive this identification is correct. This woman disappeared two weeks ago with a young man of Middleboro who had been paying her attentions for a year.

The identification was made by a man from Middleboro who refused to give his name. This man came here on an evening train for the purpose of viewing the head. He was about 40 years old and evidently well to do. He called at the morgue late last night. The man would not talk to any one but the coroner and his assistants. He told them that he had a personal interest in the case and that the friends of the missing girl had become convinced from the newspaper descriptions that the victim of the Yellow Mill pond tragedy was Miss Perkins.

The man first made minute inquiries of the undertaker concerning the body and then exhibited a picture of the young woman of whom he was in search. Mr. Cullinan was at once struck by the resemblance of the face in the picture to that of the head in his morgue.

The visitor inquired regarding the teeth of the dismembered woman and said the young woman he alluded to had three teeth filled last March. She had lost two teeth, one on each side of the lower jaw. In the mouth of the head at the morgue there are four gold fillings and two missing teeth, as indicated by the stranger.

Then the stranger was conducted to the rear room to view the head. Before he reached there he said to those who accompanied him:

"If this is the young woman I think it is, you will find a pockmark just above the right eyebrow. Miss Perkins also had a scar near the middle of her forehead, close to the scalp."

Upon looking at the head, resting in a solution in an ordinary wooden pail, the stranger was sure it was that of the person he sought.

Examination was made, and a pockmark was found over the right eyebrow. The slight vestige of a scar upon closer examination was found on the forehead.

The photograph he had brought with him the stranger entrusted to the undertaker after exacting a promise from him not to exhibit it and to keep it locked in his safe until he heard from him further. He said he had intended to leave Bridgeport last night by the first train. After consulting with his friends in the morning, if they were convinced that it was worth while, he would at once mail a full description as to teeth and other means of identification, even to marks on the body and limbs, which would absolutely settle the matter.

Marion Grace Perkins, the stranger said, belonged to a family of respectability in Middleboro and left her home three weeks ago to visit in Onset, Mass. She left the latter place two weeks ago yesterday. Later the same day she was seen boarding a train at Tremont with a young man named Charles Bourne, a clerk in a store in Middleboro, who moved in good circles in the town and had been a friend of the girl for a year.

Miss Perkins, the stranger said, was 21 years old. Mr. Cullinan, when he first saw the head, thought it was that of a woman about 22 years old. Mr. Cullinan said after the visitor from Middleboro left the photograph he brought with him showed that the hair had been arranged in a bunch so as to hide the scar on the forehead.

Mr. Cullinan made the statement last night that it would be shown that the victim was murdered outright and did not die from any operation. Developments of an important character are looked for before tonight, following the identification made last night of the head as being that of Miss Perkins.

The police here announce that Mrs. Guilford, the missing midwife of Bridgeport, has been located at Wellsburg, a little town six miles from Elmira, N. Y.

Harry Guilford, son of Dr. Nancy Guilford, arrived at Bridgeport yesterday afternoon. He is the master of the yacht Ceres. He came to Bridgeport of his own volition. The police did not know of his presence here until he was seen in Main street.

Guilford was brought here by amateur detectives. They met him on the pier near where the Ceres was lying at New Haven. He was told of the mysterious murder in Bridgeport and the fact that his mother's name had been mentioned in connection with it. Up to that time, he said, he had not heard of the case. He asked what led people to think that his mother was connected with the case and was told that the Troy laundry of New Haven identified the mark "G 51" as the one used for the clothing of his mother's family.

"Why, that is our family mark," he is alleged to have exclaimed. "I have linen marked that way."

He took his questioners into the cabin and showed them the mark in indelible ink, "G 51" marked on the inside band. He said that his mother took care of all his linen, sending it to the Pond Laundry at New Haven. That laundry marked all the clothing with the letter and figures "G 51." Two weeks ago the linen was sent to the Troy laundry, in New Haven, which concerned used the same mark.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Aurora, M. Clemenceau's paper, announces that the arrest of an officer who assisted in the preparation of the Dreyfus dossier is imminent.

PORTER DEFEATED.

Lounsbury Nominated For Governor of Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 16.—The official vote on the first ballot for governor at the Republican state convention resulted as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 493; necessary for a choice, 247; Lounsbury, 356; Porter, 129; Dowell, 16; General S. E. Merwin, New Haven, 1. The nomination of Senator Lounsbury was made unanimous.

Lyman A. Mills of Middlefield was nominated for lieutenant governor. The ballot stood: Mills, 211; Dewell, 135. The nomination of Mills was made unanimous.

Nominations for the other places on the state ticket were as follows: Secretary of state, Huber Clark of Williamantic; treasurer, C. S. Merriok of New Haven; comptroller, Thompson S. Grant of Enfield; attorney general, Charles Phelps of Vernon.

The platform indorses President McKinley's conduct previous to and during the war, commenting on his rare skill and excellent judgment in appointing to electors to trust the president and his advisers to determine wisely the conditions of peace which necessarily involve our future relations to Cuba and the Philippines; praises the work of the army and navy, which have sustained their past reputations, and urges an investigation of the war department.

THE CRETAN TROUBLES.

A Large Number of Ringleaders in the Riots Arrested.

CANDIA, Island of Crete, Sept. 16.—An aid de camp of Djovad Pasha boarded the British flagship last evening and announced that he had an important communication for the admiral. He said that 39 houses from which the British troops had been fired upon had been demolished and that 113 of the ringleaders of the disturbances had been arrested. He added that the embassies of the powers at Constantinople, in deference to the request of the sultan, had agreed that the prisoners be tried by an international commission.

This alleged decision of the embassies is not in accord with the demands made by the British admiral, General Henry Noel, and will increase the difficulty experienced in disarming the Mussulmans, as it encourages them in the belief that the sultan of Turkey still influences the embassies of the powers at Constantinople. It is doubtful whether Great Britain will consent to include the outrage on her flag with the questions of pillage and the massacre of Christians, which are purely international questions. Later 43 of the ringleaders who had been arrested were delivered to the British admiral, and it was considered probable that all the terms of his ultimatum would be complied with without resistance.

Aurania in Distress.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 16.—The Cunard line steamer Aurania, from New York, Sept. 6 for Liverpool, has been reported off the south coast of Ireland disabled and in tow. The White Star line steamer Teutonic, which left New York from Liverpool, sighted the Aurania southwest of Brow Head. It was with difficulty that her signals could be distinguished on account of the fog. The Teutonic then altered her course in order to report the Aurania at the signal station. It is believed here that the International line steamer Russia, which was due here yesterday, is towing the Aurania.

WHAT THE VERMONT ELECTION MEANS.

From the Providence (R. I.) Journal, Ind.

The complete returns from Vermont are now on record, and Smith, Republican, has a plurality of between 23,000 and 24,000 for Governor. In former years, the rule has been that if the vote for the Republican candidate sank below a total which would insure him about 26,000 plurality, the Democrats could count on the appearance of gains at the November election. The average plurality has been, including years when Presidents were elected, about 22,000 for the preceding five elections. In 1884 it was 22,000, and two months later Mr. Cleveland was chosen President. In 1890 it was 14,000, and the House which passed the McKinley act and the Sherman law was soon to be rebuked. In 1892, after superhuman exertions, the Republicans managed to increase their vote so that they could secure a plurality of 19,000, but the election of Governor presaged Mr. Cleveland's re-election. In 1888, on the other hand, the plurality was 28,000, and the Republicans counted on casting a big vote for President two months later. In 1894 the same figure was obtained, with the like result at the Presidential election two years later.

PLATT'S OPPOSITION TO BLACK.

(Rochester Herald, Ind.)

Independents throughout the State may shut their eyes to the fact, if they will, and fly off at any tangent they desire; but those of them who have followed State affairs closely know the real reason for Platt's opposition to Black, and they know that it is a reason that redounds to the Governor's credit, and would secure their unquestioning adhesion to his cause, were they honest with themselves.

"Two 'thirty day' bills of considerable importance to private interests failed to obtain the Governor's signature. The bills had been marked: 'O. K., T. B. & P.'"

That is the whole story.

Connecticut Republicans are trying to escape the consequences of Alarming to demand in their platform the condemnation of any and all officials, regardless of past or present political affiliations, who through misconduct or incompetence have sacrificed or endangered the health and lives of our soldiers.

The Citizens' Union nomination of Roosevelt for Governor on a ticket on which George E. Waring's name appears as the candidate for State Engineer has strengthened Gov. Black's candidacy, especially in the canal counties. This coupling of names suggests the possibility that if Roosevelt was Governor Waring might be made Superintendent of Public Works, in which event there would be no more plunder for canal thieves, and the bare thought of such a redoubtable possibility has stamped every Republican, who is in politics from necessary motives, to the support of Black.

Senator Lexow, forced out of political life in this district by the Odell machine, makes as graceful an exit as possible, but in his formal announcement of his withdrawal from politics, he is not able to suppress all traces of bitterness. There is no doubt that Lexow has been shamefully treated, and for no other reason than that he was too brainy, and too independent for the machine. Odell wants no man from his bailiwick who is likely to become a bigger man than he is himself, and so Lexow, in spite of his unobtrusive services, he has rendered his party, and in spite of his ability, industry and general usefulness as a legislator, is crowded out of public life, and a place made for Louis F. Goodsell, an intellectual pigmy when compared with Senator Lexow.

"Dolly" Johnson set at liberty.
"Dolly" Johnson has returned to Middletown a free man. The evidence against him was not strong enough to warrant his indictment on the charge of robbery, and "Dolly" was accordingly released from custody. The official further confessed that the poisoning plot was instigated by a former interpreter attached to the Russian legation here, who was once a court favorite, but is now in disgrace.

BLEW OUT THE GAS.

F. V. Vandervoort, of Greenville, Found Unconscious in a Room at the Madison House.

F. V. Vandervoort, a farmer of the town of Greenville, went to room 21, at the Madison House, about 11:30, Thursday night, took off his shoes, coat and vest, blew out the gas and threw himself across the bed. Night Clerk Frank Lea smelled gas about 2 o'clock, and went in search of it, but failed to locate the escape.

This morning at 6:30, the smell of gas was more noticeable and Mr. Lea went into room 21 and found the guest as described. He turned off the gas opened the windows and began telephoning for doctors. No one responded, and about 7:30, George Carter was called in and he carried the man out to the stoop where he remained unconscious.

The patient, despite all efforts to resuscitate him, remained in an unconscious condition until noon, when the effects of the gas he had inhaled wore off, and he began to regain consciousness. His complete recovery is thought to be only a question of time.

Before Dr. Gillson's arrival George Lea took charge of the case. It may not be generally known that the veteran showman, in addition to being a good hotel keeper and a practical druggist, has also a knowledge of medicine and surgery. In fact he practiced in New York city, many years ago, and he utilized his medical knowledge this morning, in the treatment of Mr. Vandervoort, doing just what Dr. Gillson continued doing after his arrival.

Some time after 8 o'clock Dr. Gilson appeared, and treated the man. A dozen or more men pumped his legs and arms for an hour or more.

HOTEL PROPERTIES SOLD.

The Wilson Hotel at Pine Bush and the Delaware House at Port Jervis at Partisan Sale.

The hotel property at Pine Bush, belonging to the estate of the late Thomas B. Wilson, was sold at partition sale at the Russell House, this morning, at 10 o'clock, by H. W. Wiggins, referee. The sale was made subject to a mortgage of $1,900, with interest from April 30th. The property was purchased by Daniel Wilcox, of Pine Island, whose bid was $1,250.

This afternoon the Delaware House in Port Jervis, which also belonged to Mr. Wilson's estate, was sold in that village. It was sold subject to a mortgage of $3,500, and was bought by George Lea for $4,200. It is understood that Mr. Lea was bidding in the interest of William Collier, a liverman, who owns the adjoining property.

J. C. R. Taylor, of this city, was attorney for the plaintiff in the proceedings.

THE ORANGE COUNTY FAIR

LAST DAY OF THE VERY SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION.

Thursday Afternoon's Light Rain Spoiled the Possibilities of Thousands of Sight-Seeers—This Morning's Shower Made To-day's Attendance Light—The Baby Trotters—Thursday's Speed Events—Financial Results of the Exhibition—Notes and Comments.

The rain which began falling Thursday afternoon, light as it was, was heavy enough to spoil the pleasure of thousands of fair goers, and it sent them hurrying home in such crowds that the capacity of cars and stages was taxed to the utmost. Not enough rain fell to even begin to lay the dust, but it came in the form of a fine mist, that soon played the mischief with the neat toilets of the ladies, few of whom were provided with umbrellas, and starchless and bedraggled, and fearing worse things, they lost no time in turning their faces homeward.

The Traction Company, which has handled the crowds with most commendable care, and with all possible dispatch, found it anything but easy to accommodate the sudden rush of travel, but no mishaps or very protracted delays occurred.

Fortunately for those living out of town, and who had long drives before them, the rain ceased about 4 o'clock, and they suffered no further annoyance or discomfort.

When the rain began the cars running to the fair grounds were all crowded with passengers and the rush would have continued for some time. The fair managers say that the rain "knoeked them out" of at least $150 yesterday, and that this morning's showers probably cost them $500. They think this pretty hard luck but are so thankful that the rain held off until yesterday afternoon that they don't kick very much. Had the rain begun yesterday morning the fair instead of yielding a profit would have been a big money loser.

The grounds were not a bit injured by the rain of yesterday and this morning. The grass was damp, of course, but the frequent appearance of the sun soon dried it off.

The early morning attendance was very small, of course, for the people who would have driven here right after breakfast did not start in the steady rain. The Florida-Chester band combination was again on hand and they played selections to an audience of ladies and gentlemen who are donating their services in the care of exhibits.

No exhibit on the grounds has attracted as much attention as the historical display which has been presided over in the main exhibition hall by Mrs. H. W. Wiggins and Miss Wiggins. These ladies are confident that next season at least three times the space will be required to place the articles which are comprised. There are many old coins, receipts, specimens of early printing, civil war relics, etc., but San Juan hill, El Caney, Santiago, Honolulu, etc., of which there are many souvenirs in this city, escaped the memory of exhibitors. An old silk handkerchief showing the shamrock, rose and thistle, and the names of the four battles of the time of William of Orange the property of H. Stanhope Townsend, is shown.

A particularly interesting relic is a piece of bark taken from a tree at Goat Island, by W. J. Groo. It shows the stars and stripes as cut in the bark by Mr. Groo's brother, who was killed in the civil war. After the war, by the consent of the agent at Goat Island, the bark was cut off.

J. Harvey Hanford shows a collection of stones formed in various shapes by the constant washing of the water. The location of the brock from which they were taken is a secret. Mr. Hanford's display of woods, etc., is one he may well be proud of.

In Mrs. Williams' department the display of painted china is far ahead of any previous exhibit. The artists are all well known ladies of this city and Goshen.

The exhibit in the linen department is very large and elegant. The judges, Miss Lena Wells, of Chester, and Miss Strong, of Goshen, had hard work to make selections for premiums, but they have used their best judgment unassisted and it is hoped that the exhibitors will remember that there could be but few winners as compared with the number of splendid exhibits.

The collection of sofa pillows made one tired—they looked so restful. There were a large number of specimens, and the ladies who knew of the number of hours required in making them were thoroughly disgusted with the men who passed by with a single glance.

A collection of mounted photographs, shown by Miss Florence Horton, is a new process of printing on paper, is one of the most entertaining exhibits in the main hall. The pictures would all pass for the finest steel engravings, and the artist's taste and judgment in the selection of subjects is commended by all who see and admire the collection.

The directors held a meeting in President Denniston's tent, this morning, and heard one or two exhibitors who thought that they had not been fairly treated in the matter of premium awards but the almost unanimous satisfaction with the work of the judges is apparent. The judging of the art classes not having been completed, Thursday, H. C. Ogden was appointed to complete it to-day.

About 10:30, the superintendent of the culinary department, anticipating an early decay of the exhibition of cake and pie began to distribute them to the visitors. The news spread and the rush of the hungry to the tent nearly wiped out the exhibit, and the distribution ceased.

THE FINANCIAL RESULTS.

The total number of admission tickets sold Thursday was 6,480; there were 374 carriages and 353 grand stand tickets.

The gate and grand stand receipts for Tuesday were $150.50; Wednesday, $1,433.20; Thursday, $1,847.70; total $3,438.40.

THE WILLARD RANGE AWARDED.

The Improved Range awarded the first premium at the Orange County Fair will be given away at 3:01 o'clock, to-day.

The award will be made by newspaper men, and the twenty-fifth ballot taken from the ballot box will be entitled to the range.

In case the person to whom the award is made is not present, the range will be taken to store of Hoyt & Galloway subject to the winner's order.

THE BABY TROTTERS.

L. H. Stage, of Unionville, who drove the baby trotters, Wednesday, before a read wagon a quarter of a mile in 42½ seconds, covered the same distance Thursday, in 39 seconds, and the exhibition astounded the thousands who witnessed it, no similar record ever having been made by colts of that age.

The colts were foaled June 22, 1898, and May 27, 1898. The dam of the older is the English thoroughbred running mare Gip, and the dam of the other is Gip's foal, Kitt. The sire is Prince Arthur. The colts are shod all around, the work having been done by a boy of sixteen years of age, who made shoes from an old scythe used on the farm, and put three nails in a shoe. The colts were first driven on the road September 5. Mr. Stage will attempt to lower his record to-day, and will enter the colts at the horsemeshow in Madison Square Garden.

Any communications should be addressed to Prof. June, Box 155, Unionville.

The colt team was photographed this morning, for the New York Herald.

THE RACES, THURSDAY.

The races were not stopped by the light rain which fell and the grand stand crowd remained until the finish. The events were not particularly closely contested. C. E. Crawford got three slices of the money.

NOTES.

—Up to 3 o'clock 600 tickets had been sold.

—The cavalcade at noon was as large as on previous days.

—A cape left on the grounds may be recovered at the Argus office.

—The visitors to McMonagle & Rogers' exhibit have been delicately sprinkled with some of their choice perfumes by Miss Ada Robinson.

—The fair was formally declared closed at 1 o'clock, and the general break up commenced at once. All of the truckmen and expressmen from town were on hand.

—Hon. Luther R. Marsh shared the protection of the Argus tent during the rain, Thursday, and many admirers of the old gentleman called on him there during the afternoon.

—The lunch tent outside of the grounds operated by "Doc" Watson, of Midway Park, was well patronized all through the fair, and the Chester and Florida bands were served there.

—The hitch and tie up race was a great success. Charles J. Baldwin with George H. won easily by ten seconds; James H. Horton with H. N. W., second; Michael Nagle with Mrs. Goldsmith's horse, Goldmont, third.

—The Bristol jubilee singers have been a great feature of the fair, large crowds taking in the concerts outside and the whole thing inside the tent. There cannot be too many of these features at future fairs. The crowds want diversion.

—Up to noon to-day 200 tickets had been sold at the gates, but after 1 o'clock the number was increased. Those who came in the afternoon had an excellent opportunity to see all of the exhibits. Everything was easy of access, and all the exhibits were on hand.

—The jubilee singers had not given any performances up to 1:30 p. m., and only an argument about "layin' you hands on me," attracted any attention to the tent. Mrs. Briace, the octonoom, who has flitted about the grounds in a neat pink gown, has attracted as much attention as anything else to be seen at the fair.

—The visit of the convalescing soldiers to the grounds Thursday, was a matter of deep interest to many. The soldiers were very modest, and they purposely missed the car up town which would have brought them to the grounds in time for the ride in the cavalcade. They were passed free into the shows and took in the merry-go-rounds, etc., without charge. Occasionally a soldier became the centre of a group of people to whom he told the experiences of his regiment in the war. Many people shook their heads warmly and congratulated them on coming out alive.

Cows Killed on the Crawford Branch.

The Pine Bush train ran late and killed two cows at Ryan's cut, just this side of Pine Bush, Thursday night. Who owned the cows is not known.

PICKPOCKETS AT THE FAIR.

W. N. Knapp's Watch Chain Cut—Mrs. Horton's Purse Stolen.

When the rain drove the crowd into the exhibition hall, Thursday afternoon, the pickpockets began their work.

W. N. Knapp stopped at the Argus tent after crowding his way out of the exhibition hall. Some one remarked that the opportunities for pickpockets to work were great, and unconsciously Mr. Knapp felt of his watch chain. He had a neat braid chain with two gold ornaments and a $100 watch goes with it. He found half of the chain, the half which had been attached to the watch being missing. The watch was safe, the end of the braid having torn out of the chain. The would-be thief had cut the chain with a pair of scissors and it was done very neatly.

Mrs. Chas. Horton, of Roberts street, was relieved of her pocket book containing $4. She values the pocket book highly, and hopes it may be found and returned to her.

A Grim Wager.

BY CECIL HAYTER

"SPEESHULL! speeshull! 'Orrible murder in the Dalton road!" And then again another voice, pitched in a higher key, took up the cry on the farther side of the street—"Speeshull! speeshull!"—and the rest was lost in incoherence as the sound of the voices, mingled and intertwined, gradually faded away in the distance.

"What a loathsome noise that is!" said Peel, with a shudder. "There is something positively ghoulish about it."

"It always gives me the creeps, especially at night. It suggests all sorts of horrible, morbid ideas," joined in Lelange, who was perched on the model throne, smoking innumerable cigarettes.

Kovno, the owner of the studio, said nothing, but smiled in rather a superior way. He was a person of somewhat unusual taste—his pictures betrayed him in that.

They were rather a cosmopolitan lot gathered in the big studio that night. Lelange was a merry, light-hearted little Frenchman, clever to the tips of his restless fingers, but quite incapable of serious work. Peel and myself were English—pinstaking, not wholly unsuccessful, but without half Lelange's versatility. Ferguson was Scotch—serious and argumentative, and Kovno—the owner of the studio—was a Pole by birth, though much of his life had been lived in Paris and London.

He was two or three years older than the rest of us. As far as his art was concerned he was brilliant, original and startlingly unpleasant. For himself, he had a fine head—the head of a dreamer. Usually a reticent man, he would at rare intervals flash out into a fiery, animated flood of talk, accompanied by wild gesticulation.

Only one other person was in the studio—Dora Smith, our model—a pretty, nervous little person, at the present moment toasting her toes at the big stove and enjoying a cigarette during her well-earned rest.

"Well, there's only one good thing about a murder," said Ferguson—"it will out! And that, as a rule, ends in hanging."

"Nonsense, my dear chap!" said Kovno. "It's only the clumsy idiots who are found out. Anyone who isn't a fool could kill as many people as he pleased, and never be even suspected—if you grant him an average amount of luck."

Lelange began drumming a sort of "danse Macabre" on the model throne with his heels, and struck a tragic attitude which made Dora laugh.

"I wish you wouldn't be so horribly gloomy," she said. "I believe this great big barn of a studio is haunted. Do, for goodness' sake, talk about something cheerful!"

"It's not gloomy at all; it's just interesting," persisted Kovno. "I don't mind owning that the possibilities of undiscovered crime have a great fascination for me."

"The possibilities of an undiscovered shilling in my trousers pocket would be more attractive to me personally," said Peel, ruefully surveying his worldly possessions. "Archie!"—turning to me—"we shall have to pad the hoof to-night. 'Can't afford an omnibus'."

"I am willing to bet," Kovno continued, without noticing the interruption, "I am willing to bet that I could commit a murder without a possibility of detection." He was getting into one of his excitable moods and gesticulating freely.

"Rubbish," said I, laughing. "Anyone can talk like that. But, in the first place, it's absurd; and in the second, I don't suppose for a minute that you'd be such an abject fool as to try."

Kovno himself laughed at that, for by nature he is one of the mildest creatures imaginable.

"No, no. I don't mean to say that I want to harm anyone in particular for the mere satisfaction of proving to a parcel of lunatics that I am talking common sense; but still I maintain I could do so."

"Well, you prove it to me, and I'll take your bet," said I, jeering.

"Will you?" he asked.

"Of course I will," I replied. "Frank we'll have a dinner on the strength of this."

"Done with you, then," said Kovno. "I'll bet you five pounds to a shilling I sold a couple of sketches to-day."

"That's all very well," put in Ferguson, slowly, "but short of actually murdering the man, and then confessing to us—in which case we should inevitably trot you off to the nearest police station—how are you going to give us proof of your ability?"

Kovno thought for a moment.

"Look here," he said, speaking quickly, "supposing I manage to spirit a man away and cause him to vanish for a week—ten days, if you like—without any inquiries that may be made enabling anyone to connect me with the matter; and supposing that I obtain a written confession from that man, acknowledging that it was in my power to kill him, if it so pleased me, will that satisfy you?"

"It's hardly a fair test," grumbled Ferguson. "Still I suppose you can't manage better—short of actually committing a crime."

"You'll have the decency to pay when you let him go," suggested Lelange.

"I shall make his release conditional on no further steps being taken," answered Kovno. "Come, are you satisfied?"

After a little more discussion the terms were agreed to, and Ferguson was appointed to hold the stakes. The

When Lady Marie Wortley Montague visited the household of the Sultan, she wrote home to England that the ladies of the harem were smothered with laughter to discover that her ladyship wore an inner vest of steel and whalebone, tight, impervious to stinging, in other words, a corset.

The ladies of the harem would no doubt have been equally astonished, though perhaps not disposed to laughter, had they known that the women of western nations, through false ideas of delicacy, suffer in silence untold agony, and sometimes death, through neglect of their health in a womanly way. Women who suffer in this way shrink from the embarrassing examinations and local treatment insisted upon by the majority of physicians. If they only knew it, there is no necessity for these ordeals. An eminent and skillful physician long since discovered a remedy that women may use in the privacy of their own homes. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the feminine organism, giving it strength, vigor and elasticity. It stops all debilitating drains. It is the greatest of all nerve tonics and invigorators for women. Thousands of women who were weak, sickly, petulant and despondent invalids are to-day happy and healthy as the result of using this wonderful medicine. Good druggists do not advise substitutes for this incomparable remedy.

"I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' in my family," writes Mrs. G. A. Conner, of Allegheny Springs, Montgomerie Co., Pa., "and I can tell them to be the best medicines that I ever used."
